What is Dynamite?

Dynamite is nitro-glycerine mixed with enough silica to convert it into a powder, which can be handled without much danger. It is not true, as is generally supposed, that it requires one skilled in chemistry to manufacture this formidable explosive. Any person of ordinary intelligence, and with a slight experience in chemistry, can compound it. Nitrie acid, the prime ingredient, is nothing but the mixture of the oil of vitrol with saltpeter. Glycerine is a very simple and harm-Silica, which is an absorbant, is a clayey substance, composed of dead plants that grow beneath the water, and after dying, settle in layers upon the botconsists in mixing sulphuric and nitric acids, and slowly adding glycerine while the mass is being stirried, the vessel kept cold. One pound of silica will absorb two pounds of nitoglycerine, and make the solid substance which is called dynamite or giant powder. What makes dynamite so destructive is the fact that it explodes instantaneously throughout its whole mass. Gun-powder is of comparatively slow combustion; otherwise it would burst a gun when it explodes, and be as dangerous as dynamite. See Distant Friends by Electricity's Aid.

The most astonishing claim yet made in behalf of electricity is that it has been proved possible to convey by it vibrations of light, so that it is practicable not only to speak with a distant friend, but to see him. Cv Hall, a successful mining man of Denver, Colorado, the owner of the celebrated Dolly Varden mine, came to the range with Alex von Wendt Saturday, and spent two days looking at the chief properties here. He seemed well pleased with what he saw. He departed Tuesday, but will probably return again. He will doubtless take bold of something here. Mr. Hali is a practical miner such as would do this country good and he has abundant means to operate with.

Richard Mansfield White lost one of his horses last week, by death. Long ago Mr. White learned that it was an exceedingly dangerous practice to use a picket rope of less size than threequarters of an inch, and he has always been careful to warn his triends on this point. Notwithstanding, while visiting Chloride last week he was guilty of the folly of turning one of his grays out with a five-sixteenths inch line tied to its neck. He paid the penalty he had always predicted for the stet. The horse had strangled himself during the night. In scratching his neck with his hind foot he had caught the loop of the rope under the heel of the shoe as his foot came back and being unable to exthe Black Knife contact, named the tricate it, he pulled and struggled until he choked to death. Mr. White has learned by experience that which heretofore he knew only from testimony.

The finest collection of minerals that has ever been seen by the reporter, or in fact, by anybody else whom he has beard mention it, is the one which Alex. von Wendt brought back with him Advice has been received that a from Denver on his return from his Black Knife agent will be here on this late visit. He has tellurides, raw and ten of these rare curiosities last named which it is necessary to see to understand. As it is impossible to give any adequate idea of them in a description the RANGE will not attempt the task. Many rare and delicate specimens which form a part of his cabinet at home he did not bring because of the danger of ruining by transportation. Gus Holmes departed this week for Mr. Von Wendt has refused five hundred dollars for one single specimen that he has with him and its beauty would warrant the offer.

After the wheat came up, on a Kentucky farm, a sleet! storm covered the field with ice. Before this melted a flood swept over, and the ice, rising to the surface of the water, pulled every blade of wheat out of the ground and Saloon and Billiard Room carried it away. Please try and believe Enthusiastic professor of physics, discussing the organic and and inorganic kingdoms: \"Now, if I should shut my eyes-so-and drop my eyes-soand should not move you would say 1 was a clod. But I move, I leap; then what do you call me?" Voice from the rear: "A clodhopper!" Class is dismissed.

Did it ever occur to you, when you were groping around your room in the dark and struck your nose so violently against a half open door that it jarred the whole house-did it ever occur to you at such a moment that the heat of the sun is sufficient to reduce the Pacific ocean to steam in twenty minutes. The probabilities are that it didn't.

"I had a wife and dog aboard that boat and both were lost," remarked a bereaved man, gazing in the direction of the wreck. "It must make you feel sorter desolate like," responded his sympathizer. "Yes, it's rough on me" continued the mourner, "I've been walk- Gen'l Merchandise, ing the beach ever, since daybreak looking for the body of the dog."

Owing to criminal carelessness of attending newspaper reporters, the following starting incidents of the president's visit to Florida was omitted from the regular press dispatches: "In straining to pull m a fish to-day, President Arthur leaned a little too far over Hercules and Giant Powder the side of the boat and burst a button off his breeches. Secretary of Navy Chandler, with his usual presence of mind, eaught the flying button in his laft eye."

BLACK RANGE NEWSPAPER.

Black Range Newspaper

Is published in what is conceded to be one of the very richest mining regions of the world, and likewise in a country unsurpassed for stock raising. Conse-

Mining and Stock Raising Interests.

It is a local paper, making no pretensions to widespread influence nor the controlling of national affairs. It is sufficient for the BLACK RANGE if it so succeeds in setting forth the advantages and wealth of western Socorro county, that capital may be induced to come bither and open up the rich prospects which have been discovered. The Black Range is new. Prospects for

Mines of Gold, Silver, Copper, Lead and Iron

Such as no country has ever surpassed, abound upon the surface from one end of the range to the other, and as far as work has opened the ledges the indicahave been bettered, but development capital comes forward slowly and little can be done without it. The range has abundant grass and water, and live stock to eat the one and drink the other are fast coming in. To advertise the above facts and at the same time earn something more than livelihood from this institution is the aim of the BLACK RANGE newspaper.

ADVERTISERS

Who wish to reach a mining community will notice that the support of this paper is at present almost entirely of that class and that it has no competition nearer than fifty miles; that intends to represent the four bright, lively towns of Chloride, Grafton, Fairview and Robinson, and has a fair circulation. Rates will be made known upon application. Subscription price printed at the head of the second page.
